Welcome

Welcome to the 2017 conference of the AAP. This is the 95th annual conference of the Association, and the first to welcome undergraduate AAP members. We are very pleased to be hosting the event, and hope you have a stimulating and enjoyable week. If you have any questions throughout the week, please bring them to the information desk (Napier Level 1 foyer), or ask a red-badged volunteer or Organizing Committee member.

AAP Conference 2017 Program

The AAP Conference 2017 Program is provided to all delegates as a separate document in the conference packs, but can also be viewed using the Whova app or on the conference website at aap.org.au/Program2017Conference.

AAP Annual General Meeting

The Australasian Association of Philosophy invites all AAP members to attend its Annual General Meeting for 2017. This will be held in Napier 102 on Sunday 2 July from 4.30 to 5.30pm.

Venue details

The AAP 2017 Conference will run on three levels (LG, G and 1) of the Napier Building, on the North Terrace campus of The University of Adelaide. The Napier Building overlooks Pulteney Street, and is located within a short walk of many city shopping, dining and accommodation options.

The check-in and enquiries desk will be located in the Ground floor foyer of the Napier Building on Sunday 2 July, and will be open from 3.30pm for collection of conference packs and nametags. Late (on-the-spot) registrations are also possible, though catering and attendance at social events (other than the welcome reception) cannot be guaranteed for those taking this option. Delegates are requested to wear their nametags at all times throughout the conference and during all associated events.

From Monday 3 July onwards, the enquiries desk will be located in the Napier Level 1 foyer, and will be staffed throughout the conference for information, messages and assistance. The Level 1 foyer will also effectively be the conference 'hub' – it will be the venue for the welcome reception, APR launch, morning and afternoon tea catering each day and the publishers' displays.

Many of the smaller seminar rooms and lecture theatres are located on the Lower Ground level of the building, which can be reached by one of the lifts or via the external stairs.

Bottled water for presenters will be available at the enquiries desk throughout the conference. Thanks to the generosity of Lenswood Cold Stores, complimentary fresh fruit will be provided for all delegates throughout the conference in the Level 1 and Lower Ground foyers.

Session Chairs

Chairs for non-plenary sessions will not be arranged by the conference organisers. We would ask that a member of the audience for each session volunteers to chair the session.

Bulletins and Announcements

Program changes and other announcements will be notified through Whova (details on p 10) and on the conference bulletin board in the Level 1 foyer.

Student guides/volunteers

Please look for our red-badged postgraduate volunteers if you require assistance finding your presentation venue or setting up.

Student guides will also be available to escort groups to satellite and social events in other locations, leaving from the designated Meeting Point in the Ground Floor foyer.

The Conference Pub - Exeter Hotel

The Exeter Hotel at 246 Rundle Street has been designated the default venue for AAP delegates looking for a place to reconvene over a cleansing ale. Just a short walk across North Terrace, the Exeter is a traditional favourite of thirsty academics and students, and offers good pub food. It's also well located for a wide range of other eating and drinking options in the Rundle Street locale.

Coffee cart

Frankie's coffee cart will be located near the Napier building ground floor entrance during the conference for those who wish to purchase a stronger or more specific coffee than the percolated variety offered on Level 1 during the morning and afternoon tea breaks.

Wheelchair accessibility

The ground floor of Napier is wheelchair accessible from the approach to the western entrance. All the Napier level 1 and Napier LG venues are accessible via the lifts in the Napier ground floor foyer.

Both the Sanctuary Adelaide Zoo and National Wine Centre venues are also wheelchair accessible.

Alan Saunders Memorial Lecture 2017

In recognition of the enduring work of Alan Saunders, the Australian Broadcasting Corporation, in association with the Australasian Association of Philosophy presents an annual Alan Saunders Memorial Lecture. The lecture aims to spread the joy of philosophy and make it accessible to the wider public.

The 2017 Alan Saunders Lecture will be delivered by

on the topic

'Contemporary and Ancient Lessons on Moral Injury and Healing'.

Tuesday 4 July 6PM

Radford Auditorium

Art Gallery of South Australia

North Terrace, Adelaide

Tickets are free, but seating is limited. Tickets can be booked here:

More information about the lecture can be found here: <https://aap.org.au/NancySherman>

A guide to the Radford Auditorium will leave from the Napier Ground Floor meeting point at 5.40pm.

Australasian
Association of Philosophy

Professional Development sessions

The following professional development sessions will run concurrently on Wednesday 5 July, from 4.30 to 6.30pm.

Careers beyond the academy

What can you do with a philosophy degree besides becoming an academic philosopher? What are the advantages and disadvantages of moving out of academia? In this session we hear from three philosophy graduates who have carved out careers outside of philosophy about how they did it and how their philosophical training has influenced them. We also present some further career case studies from an AAP project and highlight some notable Australian philosophy graduates.

Panellists: Tamara Zutlevics (Patient ethicist at the Children, Youth & Women's Health Service, South Australia), Tim Van Gelder* (Enterprise Research Fellow, School of Biosciences, University of Melbourne), Kim Little (Assistant Deputy Secretary, Early Childhood Portfolio Victorian Department of Education)

Moderators: Daniel Stoljar and Jeanette Kennett

ERA Impact & Engagement - what to expect

This session will brief Australian philosophers on the 2017 trial run of ERA with impact case studies and engagement metrics. Following a brief overview of what we know (or can reasonably expect) about Impact and Engagement, Dirk Baltzly will facilitate a discussion of strategies we might pursue to make the best of a measurement exercise that is not exactly tailored to Humanities disciplines.

Undergraduate research development

As part of the Undergraduate Afternoon of the conference, staff and students of the Philosophy Department at the University of Adelaide will present a session on study and research opportunities here at Adelaide and around Australasia.

Social Program details

Welcome Reception - Sunday 2 July

To kick off the AAP Conference 2017, bar service and finger food will be provided from 5.30-6.30pm in the Level 1 foyer of the Napier Building.

APR Launch - Monday 3 July

From 6.30pm in the Level 1 foyer, a short function with drinks and nibbles will be held for those delegates who wish to join the Taylor & Francis team to celebrate the launch of the Australasian Philosophical Review. No registration necessary.

The Australasian Philosophical Review is a new and exciting journal in Open Peer Commentary format. It publishes significant and controversial invited lead articles by authors from all areas of philosophy, together with invited and open peer commentaries on those invited lead articles, and authors' responses to those commentaries. Each issue has a different curator, chosen by a committee of the AAP; the curator is responsible for the choice of the authors of the invited lead article and the invited commentaries.

The first issue appeared in March 2017. The theme of 1.1 is Aesthetic Pleasure curated by Jennifer McMahon, with lead article, 'The Pleasure of Art', by Mohan Matthen, invited commentaries from Cynthia A. Freeland, Paul Guyer, & Robert Sinnerbrink and seven open peer commentaries.

Howling Owl Quiz Night - Wednesday 5 July

"The owl of Minerva spreads its wings only with the falling of the dusk."

Bringing the Undergraduate Afternoon to a sociable conclusion, there will be a quiz and drinks night from 7.00pm on Wednesday 5 July at the Howling Owl café and bar, 10 Vaughan Place, in Adelaide's East End. The evening will feature a philosophy-themed quiz followed by drinks from the bar, with the first drink free for undergraduate members. Places are limited so priority will be given to undergraduate and postgraduate student members of the Association. (NB: At the time of going to print, it was expected that places for this event will have filled before the conference commences.)

See <http://www.thehowlingowl.com.au/> for venue details.

A guide to the Howling Owl will leave from the Napier Ground Floor meeting point at 6.45 pm.

Social Night - Wednesday 5 July SOLD OUT

Please note due to venue space constraints, the number of registrants for this event has had to be capped. Only those who booked and paid online with registration will be catered for. Please see the Howling Owl Quiz Night details above and other recommended local venues for alternatives.

A social and networking evening, starting at 7.00pm at the 'Wined Bar' on the ground floor of the unique National Wine Centre building, will feature Australia's largest tasting room experience, with 120 different wines available for sampling with the state-of-the-art Enomatic wine preservation and dispensing machines.

The Wined Bar is part of the Centre's Cellar Door where you can choose, pour and taste every wine - from Penfolds' Grange to boutique wine labels. With all the best Cellar Doors in the one place, visitors are able to find the perfect wine to suit their taste and budget. Friendly, educated staff are on hand to help you discover the perfect drop.

Included in the cost are substantial platters of finger food, and initial drinks ... delegates can choose

- an Enomatic card (pre-loaded with $15 credit), available on a first come-first served basis (maximum of 50 issued) for those that wish to sample wines, or
- a token for the first glass of wine (to the value of $15) available from the bar to those that prefer to settle straight in and enjoy the ambience of the venue.

Subsequent drinks will be at participants' own cost, and please note no other meals/food can be ordered at this venue. For those that wish to go on to dinner, the National Wine Centre is located within a short walk of Rundle Street, which offers many dining options. See page X for some recommendations.

A guide to the National Wine Centre will leave from the Napier Ground Floor meeting point at 6.45pm.

AAP Conference Dinner - Thursday 6 July

Please note that bookings for the Conference Dinner were required online with registration, so only those delegates who have pre-booked and paid will be able to attend this event. Please see the list of alternative local eateries on p11 of this booklet for those that prefer to make their own arrangements.

The 2017 AAP Conference Dinner will be held at Sanctuary Adelaide Zoo, a stylish venue overlooking the beautiful parklands of Adelaide's CBD fringe and a 5-minute walk from the Napier Building (map below). Starting with pre-dinner drinks (at own cost) from 7pm and networking, the evening will progress to a set two-course (entree and main course) dinner in the Attenborough Room, followed by tea, coffee and Haighs chocolates.

The Sanctuary Adelaide Zoo is located upstairs on Level 1 of the new southern entrance building facing Botanic Park, and offers disabled access via a lift. A guide to the Sanctuary Adelaide Zoo will leave from the Napier Ground Floor meeting point at 6.45 pm.

As well as being a networking and social highlight of the year for the AAP community, the conference dinner will be an opportunity to hear from AAP speakers and recognise prize winners as we wind up this year's gathering.

The map above shows the locations of both the National Wine Centre (outlined in blue) and Sanctuary Adelaide Zoo (red) in relation to the Napier Building (black).

Getting around Adelaide

Adelaide Airport is around 7km and a $15 cab fare (approx.) from the CBD. As well as taxi and Uber options for getting out and around in Adelaide, the public transport network of trains, trams and buses is easy to use - see www.adelaidemetro.com.au for details. Tickets can be purchased on board from drivers or vending machines. As a guide, single trip tickets cost from $2.50 and an unlimited daytrip ticket is $10.

The City-Glenelg tram is a popular option for visitors wanting to see something other than the CBD. The tram stops in front of the Adelaide Railway Station, runs along King William Street and then to Glenelg via the south-western suburbs of Adelaide. The trip takes around 30 minutes and terminates in Moseley Square at Glenelg, the site of the 1836 proclamation of the colony of South Australia and now a popular seaside resort. As well as the beach, Glenelg offers a wide range of shops, accommodation and cafes along and around Jetty Road.

North Adelaide is a short bus ride or 30-minute walk from the city – most of the buses running north along King William Street travel via O’Connell Street, which bisects the gracious, tree-lined streets of North Adelaide, worth a look around for its character homes, squares, pubs and other grand stone buildings. O’Connell Street itself has many pleasant shopping and dining offerings, and is a short walk from St Peters Cathedral and Adelaide Oval.

Also just on the fringes of the city and worth visiting for the shopping, character buildings, cafes and restaurants are Norwood Parade and King William Road, Hyde Park, both easily doable with public transport.

An independent visit to the Adelaide Hills is best done with a hire car, or a chauffeured vehicle - try Hughes Cars for prestige vehicles and knowledgeable drivers at your service.

There are several taxi ranks in the city, and two of the biggest taxi companies are Yellow Cabs (call 13 2227) and Suburban Taxis (call 131 008).

Pre and post-conference tours

Adelaide is one of the world's most walkable cities, and offers a range of cultural, shopping, gastronomic and sporting attractions within the CBD and environs. With a plethora of quirky and cosy bars showcasing SA's fabulous wines and craft beers, the famous Central Market, and great cafes and restaurants, you'll be spoiled for wining and dining choices. Outside the city, there are world-famous wine regions, unique coastal towns and the heritage, character and beautiful scenery of the Adelaide Hills to explore. Further afield, but still doable as a long day trip, Kangaroo Island awaits, combining fascinating history, abundant wildlife and a pristine natural environment.

Adelaide Sightseeing offers both private and public tours. The public tour options range in price from $56 for a half-day city highlights tour to $275 for the full-day return trip to Kangaroo Island's Seal Bay.

See www.adelaidesightseeing.com.au for more information and online bookings.

Please note there are no included or organised tours for the AAP Conference – all options are at delegates own cost and will need to be arranged on an individual or group basis.
